If You're Going To Join The Army Play The Game!

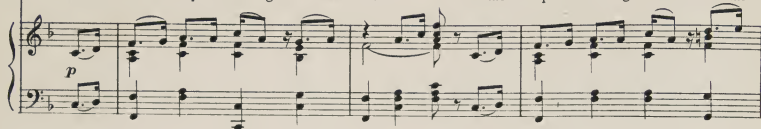

Words & Music
By E. L. SMITH.

Tempo di Marcia.

If you're going to join the ar-my, Play the game!
There's a camp at Fort Ni-ag-ara, Play the game!
There's an-oth-er camp that's waiting You and me.

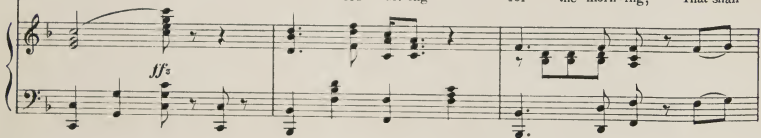

If you're going to fight for free-dom, Play the Sea Girt, An-nis-ton and Plattsburg, Play the It's the camp that's call-ing us a-cross the game!

game!
sea.

Start to fin-ish
O-gle-thorp and
Broth-ers wait-ing

Play the game! New-er old Fort My-er And there's for the morn-ing, That shall doubting for a moment That the Wrightstown and then's Yaphank And there dawn and find the world set free from goal you sure will reach.

ma-ny oth-ers too.
cru-el-ty-ra-ny.

For the game is worth the play-ing, For it's With Per-shing and his a-ble band, To
To give to all the freedom Of a life and love and home, And it's free-dom bought for - ev - er, That we of - fer to the world.

lead us "o - ver there," And — all the sol-diers, sail-ors true Who start-ed on a - head, true de-mo - cra-cy, A — bro-ther-hood that stands for all, No more the weak o - press.

Chorus.

If you're going to join the ar - my, Play the game! If you're fit, just do your bit and play the game! Start to fin-ish, play the game! By the stars and stripes you car-ry, Play the game! — sta
